Everyone takes a unique approach when dealing with changes. Some of us can take changes with a good attitude and a sense of humor, while others run away from the very thought of change. Those of us who embrace change are more courageous in our actions, whereas those who take the easy way out by not accepting change may be seen as cowards. The ability to "roll with the punches" gives people an easygoing attitude toward life, which facilitates in leading a more fulfilling existence. However you deal with change, it is always true that without change, life would be boring and predictable. Once this realization has set in, we will be more accepting of the fact that this world will always consist of vehicles that are changing lanes.

Student Life...

What is student life exactly? It is the double dates, the parties, and the dances. It is cramming for a final until 3 a.m. It is the football games, the restaurants, and romances. It is the relationships we form and the memories we make. It is the things we will look back on fondly and tell our kids one day. It is the activities that are the basis of school spirit. It is the time in our lives that is to be cherished and never forgotten. It is what makes up every day of each student's life at school. It is the place where we are able to switch on our turn signals and change lanes on the highway of our lives. Student life makes up who we are and what makes each one of us unique. It is found in every student here at Highland High School and should be embraced.

Pie-faced cheerleaders

Here it is, the week every student has been waiting for. This week you get to pass "Go" and collect $200. Yes, ladies and gents, it is Spirit Week, the week where wearing hats, doubling up, going 80's style, sleeping in class, and showing school spirit is cool.

This is also the time of the traditional Homecoming parade, bonfire, and Superstars. The Homecoming parade showcases all of the hard work that the classes and clubs put into their floats. It is also a good time for the freshmen to learn what high school Spirit Week is all about and show their stuff against the sophomores in competition. Superstars is a place for the seniors to headbutt the juniors, and sophomores to crush the freshmen in grueling tasks. This year, the seniors and the freshmen beat the juniors and sophomores. Also, the senior class float, "Mouse Trap," won the competition among the classes.

"Spirit Week is a fun way to support our sports' teams," senior Grace Murphy said. "It would be better to see more people not worried about looking stupid, just having fun and showing spirit."

The excitement came to a close with the big game against Griffith and the fun-filled Homecoming dance.

Muddy Night Football

It was a cold, rainy night as the players took the field. The fans were cheering, dressed in ponchos and carrying umbrellas to protect themselves from the rain. It didn't halt the game though.

"(The rain) was a big part of the game because we couldn't run some of the plays we were working on all week in practice," sophomore Derek Moser said.

Even with the rain, both teams played hard, and by the end of the first half, the game was tied, 7-7.

During halftime, the Homecoming Court was announced. The Homecoming King was Brett Bach, and the Queen was Marina Aburto. After the announcement, the game resumed.

All the fans were on their feet since the game was a close one. Even Mr. Martinez (Lloyd Martinez's dad) was feeling the school spirit when he came out dressed as a Highland cheerleader to build up the crowd's morale.

Sadly, the game came to an end with Griffith on top, 14-7. Even though the Trojans lost, the Highland players didn't let it dampen their spirits.

What would you say if I told you that someone said you looked funny at Homecoming?

"Tell me who it is ... I'll beat them up!" senior Marina Aburto said.

"But, I'm funny how? Funny like a clown? I amuse you? I make you laugh? I'm here to amuse you? How am I funny? What the heck is so funny about me?" senior Stefanie Lopez said.

A night filled with dancing, pictures, romance, and ... board games? Yes, that's right! As people walked into the auxiliary gym anticipating a memorable night, they took "A Stroll Down Boardwalk" to a place that will never be forgotten.

Students danced while the DJ played music from the 70's and 80's and newly released songs. On the other side of the gym was a place to slow down for a while. There were long lines of couples and groups waiting to get their pictures taken.

Everyone took a break from dancing while senior Student Council President Georgia Cavvouras announced this year's Homecoming King and Queen. Peers watched King Brett Bach and Queen Marina Aburto proudly dance to "Under the Boardwalk."

"Even though the theme was 'Board Games' this year, Homecoming was a great experience to just go with friends, hang out, and have a good time," junior Jenn SinClair said.

The dance ended with couples dancing to "Just Breathe" and everyone going their separate ways for even more fun that night. After the dance, people went to many different places. Whether they went to a friend's house, Bennigan's, McDonald's, or Chicago, the memory of being with friends is what everyone will remember for years to come.

"All that Glitters is Blue and Gold!"

It's the day of the big game, and one thing is certain, Highland's athletic teams will get plenty of support from their fans. Clad in blue and gold, these loyal fans come ready to make some noise and cheer Highland to victory.

But attending games is just a part of showing school spirit. Taking part in activities during Homecoming, Spirit Week, and Spirit Days helps to promote unity throughout the school.

Highland's students have come up with some imaginative ways to show off their spirit, including cutting up T-shirts, wearing cowboy hats, and face and body painting.

Students came out full force in their blue and gold for Trojan Pride. Some memorable spirit activities this year were standing in the rain at the football games, waking up early for cross country runners, and getting decked out for the basketball games.

When fans support Highland's teams, the players are inspired to do their very best.

Fun, friends, beach, vacation. These are all things associated with summer. At the beginning of summer, students look forward to school ending and spending more time with friends. # Well, I Guess This is Growing Up

Growing up. It is an inevitable part of life. We all remember our first day of kindergarten and freshman year. We will all remember graduation, our wedding day, and when our first child is born.

Memories, both the good and the bad, are the best part of growing up. Surely, we all have those pictures our parents threaten to show our friends. You know, like "Baby's First Bath," or those bad haircuts we wish we could forget (i.e., the Mullet, the Bowl Cut, etc.).

"I love the 80's! That time brings back old school memories of me growing up at my grandma's house," senior Ashley Mayer said.

Looking back at old yearbooks and photo albums, we laugh at how styles have changed, and how we have changed. Gone are the days of side ponytails and neon clothing. Also gone is the innocence of childhood and the days of letting our parents take care of everything. With our growing comes maturity and responsibility. We are finally all grown up.

★ Highland fans

Students at Highland High School -- like most students at any other school -- always are abreast of what is new, fresh, hot, exciting, or just simply trendy.

Students learn what is trendy from television, magazines, and from their favorite celebrities, and try to duplicate these trends in the activities they pursue or the clothes they wear. Those things which are trendy not only relate to clothes and fashion, but also to popular music and a ever-changing society.

When students come to school, they try to show off those things which they have discovered to have become 'trendy.'

The sport of skateboarding, for example, is becoming extremely popular with an increasing number of students who enjoy performing for their friends. Daring jumps and risky rides are what this new trend is all about.

Music, of course, also influences the way teenagers think and dress. If you're into rap or hip hop or rock or punk or whatever, it influences your style. Essentially everything around us influences the way we think and dress.

That is what Friends are for

It's true, we could never get through the school day without our friends. Passing notes, gossiping, whispering in the back of the room, or getting into trouble, we all help one another survive each day.

We are with our classmates so much that it is inevitable that we will form lasting friendships.

There are some people whom we have been friends with since the very first day of kindergarten, or maybe it's a friendship that was made at the beginning of the year. High school is a place where friendships are easily made and broken. It is a time for change. Sometimes we befriend our elementary school arch-nemesis, and other times we become enemies with our seventh grade lab partner.

During the time we spend in high school, we change and develop our own unique personalities with the help of our friends.

"I don't think my friends shape who I am," freshman Lauren King said, "they just help me discover my full potential in life."

Junior Angela Baker agreed, adding, "Friends help you to find out who you are and what you want in life, and no matter what, they're there through it all!"

What You Make Of It

Hey, let's face it, high school is an exciting place, but that doesn't mean that every minute is a party. Yes, there are times, believe it or not, when school can actually be, well, sort of dull. We all have experienced extreme boredom a few hundred times during our years at Highland High School. Although boredom is a common symptom of high school, there are many remedies that can cure it.

"The only thing that gets me through the day is seeing my friends," senior Renae Kondrat said.

Senior Scott Thompson said he looks forward to what he will do when the freedom bell rings and the school day is over.

"I dream about what I'm going to do after school," he said, "and that gets me through the school day."

Hanging out in the Commons, food fights in the cafeteria, and passing notes in study hall are all things that students do to get through the long, hard days of school.

To some school is really boring, but to others it is exciting. But in the end it's all "what you make of it."

Back to the Future

Looking back at old photo albums and yearbooks, we are reminded of how much things have changed and how they will continue to change. Cars, presidents, fashion, food, and houses will all change.

Sometimes it's hard for us to think of what life will be like after high school. Some of us will go to college, some will get married, and some may even end up back at Highland on the teaching staff. Although it is impossible to know exactly what we will be doing or where we will be living, we can always dream about the things that we want. We may not all be President of the United States or CEOs of major companies, but our goals of the present affect who and where we will be in the future.

"I want to be the President of the world. Never shoot small," sophomore Nick Shreffler said.

Seriously, high school is in-between period where many students contemplate their future. Many others begin planning by doing well in school with the anticipation of going to college or a trade school. What the future holds for each of us is anybody's guess. Life can take strange twists and turns, but we all hope the journey is paved with success and happiness.

Clubs and Academics

Clubs and academics are a major part of the high school experience. Some people are involved in various clubs and organizations, while others figure that the time spent during the school day is more than enough. Joining clubs gives people the opportunity to help others, meet new people, and use their talents for something productive.

Academics are another way that people can use their skills to excel. Some people take advantage of the opportunity to expand their minds. Every class has a wide range of students, from the incredibly lazy to the highly motivated. But no matter what your opinion is, clubs and academics are an excellent way to spend your free time.

"I wish I could be either Mr. Markley, because I love music and singing, or Ms. Merrick, because I would love to get to know my students on a deeper level in classes like IPR," senior Alison Kostelich said.

The Reason Behind It All

A common question among high schoolers is, "Why do I have to learn this?" Students are required to take certain core classes throughout their high school career, but they don't always understand why they must learn certain things. Teachers try to explain why the information will be useful in the future, but even this doesn't instill the motivation to learn.

So what are some of these required classes that students sometimes dread going to? They include English, science, math, foreign language, and social studies.

"My least favorite class would have to be pre-calculus. It seems silly to spend hours graphing things that don't exist," junior Brian McCord said.

Science broadens minds to discover what is not always seen. There are many aspects of the world that people don't pay attention to, but through science, the little questions are answered. Math expands the everyday boundaries by challenging the mind to think beyond the simplicities of life. Social studies enables the past to come alive in the present, while also learning the basis by which our country is run. Foreign language equips students to enter into another world but still be able to communicate with strangers.

These classes build upon the basics that are needed to survive in the real world. Without the basics, the extraordinary can never be achieved.

A Chance to Choose a Destiny

Highland High School provides a great variety of classes for its students each year. Whether it's aerobics, weights, sewing, foods, art classes, or even construction trades, Highland is proud to offer a wide range of classes. Elective learning is a unique and exciting way to learn things that can open new doors.

After students have been through the core classes, they can excel in the many advanced level classes HHS offers. Many students take advantage of these opportunities.

Highland High School is always happy to help students reach for their goals in life, such as becoming a chef, carpenter, artist, or journalist.

Highland students also have the option of participating in the programs held at the Area Career Center. This year, 21 students attend the morning classes, while 17 students attend the afternoon classes. This program gives students a chance to really excel in the area they aspire to work in. The Career Center is a preview of what further education or a job will be like in a specific field of study.

All in all, Highland supplies students with a chance to take classes that add variety to an otherwise ordinary schedule.

QUESTION TIME!

Why do you enjoy going on field trips?

"I enjoy field trips because I get to spend a lot of time with the fine ladies outside of school," senior Jake Latham said.

"I like field trips because the time spent with my peers is like no other," senior Cliff Evans said.

A Well-Deserved Vacation

Field trips are perhaps the most enjoyable thing that can happen in a class. Who doesn't like getting on a bus and traveling to Chicago for the day? Most classes have at least one field trip during the year, but there are a few field trips that truly stand out.

The students in Environmental Science, for example, get to go on a three-day field trip to the Indiana Lakeshore Dunes where they participate in cleaning up the area. The students are assigned to cabins, and each day they do various things to clean up the surrounding terrain.

"We tested the Little Calumet River and found some very interesting things. It was hard work," junior Ali Szymanski said.

Another field trip that stands out would have to be the trip to Great America for Physics Day. During this field trip, students get to enjoy all the rides while recording things such as the height of the Giant Drop. In class the next day, the students use their findings to determine things like the rides' velocities.

Even though these two trips are exceptional, there really is no such thing as a bad field trip. All field trips allow for a nice break from school, and some can even be educational.

Going the Extra Mile

For those students who excel in a certain area of academics, or in all areas of academics, there exists an honor society. An honor society allows for students to work more with a subject they already enjoy, and it doesn't look too bad on a college application either.

Are you quite fond of a foreign language? Well, there is a honor society for that, too. These honor societies allow students to expand their knowledge of the language of their choice. They hold meetings, take field trips, and sponsor activities within the school.

Perhaps you enjoy painting or drawing? For all the artists, there is the National Art Honor Society (NAHS). The NAHS has meetings, and allows its members to show off their artistic skills. The NAHS holds mural sessions at the elementary schools, and has even decorated our hallways.

Now these honor societies are all fine and dandy, but what if you happen to be good at everything? Don't worry, there is the National Honor Society (NHS). If you maintain a 'B' average, you will be awarded the chance to join during your junior year in high school. The NHS sponsors numerous activities within the school, and does things for our community as well.

So if you happen to enjoy a subject that has its own honor society, do not hesitate to join. They are all enjoyable, and they all do great things within and outside of the school.

When the end of the year approaches, that means it's time for the Spring Musical. This year the Highland Theatre Company put out "Carousel."

Being part of the cast meant that there would be plenty of fun times.

"Being in the musical was such a fun experience," senior Marina Alburto said. "I loved singing and dancing on stage! Everyone in the play was so much fun to perform with."

Everyone said there was something about the musical that they enjoyed most.

"My favorite part was playing the villain," senior Steve Wesolak said. "It was fun to be a catalyst in the conflict of the show."

Other cast members said they just simply enjoyed performing.

"The best part of being in 'Carousel' was getting to be on stage," freshman Stephanie Kuosera said.

The shows were held on May 6-8. The final night was the last time that the seniors would perform on the high school stage.

"Being in 'Carousel' was a great experience," senior Ashley Dillard said. "The best part was working with all the talented people here at Highland High School. HTC has come a long way in a year and 'Carousel' was a great example of what we can do."

Students Perform 'Dracula'

If you weren't frightened by this year's fall play, then you were, of course, entertained.

In the Highland Theater Company's fall production of "Dracula," Mrs. Molly Kappes made her directing debut, replacing Mr. Marty Grubbs who resigned last January. Mrs. Kappes bravely stepped up to the challenge.

The main stars of the play - Bryan Meján, Aaron Miller, Ryan Prendergast, Ashley Dillard, Jackie Klapak, Jessica DeBoer, and Lauren Brechner - took control of the play on the first two nights and the understudies - Aaron Miller, Steven Shotts, Ben Van Sickle, Amber Lemon, Stephanie Kuscera, and Moe Valle - finished up the last night with a bang.

HTC's production of "Dracula" was based on the new version of "Dracula," by Crane Johnson. Lucy, played by Lauren Brechner, is terribly ill. With the help of others trying to find out what is wrong with her, they discover the problem isn't an illness; it is a vampire. Then they find out the vampire is none other than Bryan Meján himself, Dracula. Now, the race is on to save Lucy and the others from the clutches of Dracula's evil.

Naturally, the play was a huge success, enjoyed by all who attended.

Guided by Director Mr. Markley, choir students are always rehearsing for their next show or for the annual I.S.S.M.A. competition. Choir students also performed at Disney World over Spring Break for tourists.

Additionally, throughout the year, there are four choir concerts held for the community in Monbeck Auditorium. Some groups also attended the Indiana State School Music Association at Munster High School.

Putting on a fantastic show

Students who perform in the Highland High School Band and on the Color Guard squad are very deserving of recognition because of the dedication it requires to be a member.

The Band has had a new instructor every year for the past few years. Still, each year, they have done very well in I.S.S.M.A. as well as other competitions. This year's new instructor is Mr. Todd Ward, who took the Band members to Disney World in Florida to perform over Spring Break. They were joined by members of the Color Guard, who also performed a routine.

Students in Color Guard perform at halftime and march in parades with the Band. They are coached by Jill Manka, who guided the squad to a top ranking in one of their competitions.

Both the band and the Color Guard did very well this year. All the students had fun and hope to improve even more next year.

Students who make a difference

Throughout our lives, we encounter many opportunities to lend a helping hand to the members of our community. All of us are faced with the decision to either take advantage of this opportunity, or to ignore it because we are too caught up with our own lives. Thankfully, many students in various organizations seize the opportunity to give their time to help others.

In fact, the students almost always jump at the opportunity to help by participating in such groups as TREND, Student Council, and the National Honor Society. Activities like the Blood Drive, Spaghetti Dinner, and Snowflake have also been effective in giving back to the community.

All three of these positive-gearred groups have frequently come together to help build Highland's schools, as well as the community, into a friendly and enjoyable environment.

Shield: All about yearbook

Publishing a yearbook takes strong dedication and a lot of hard work. Twenty-seven people came together as a team, under the aid of Mr. Foss, to produce the GREATEST yearbook that Highland has ever seen -- the first ever all-color yearbook at HHS.

Of course, where would the staff be without the help of SHIELD's magnificent adviser, Mr. Foss?

"I'm very proud of the students on staff. They set a goal to produce a truly unique yearbook that the entire school would enjoy, and, needless to say, they did an excellent job," Foss said.

Students enjoy many aspects of being a part of such a rewarding project.

"Yearbook is a lot of fun because you get to work with people who are very creative. I'm going to miss the class next year," said senior Ruth Shimek, who has been on staff for two years.

The class not only promotes creativity, but it also helps to establish lasting friendships.

"Yearbook was awesome this year," sophomore Bethany Kotynski said. "It was cool working with all of my friends, and I'm glad I got to be a part of it."

SHIELD has also inspired high school students to start a career in journalism, such as sophomore Jenny LeBlanc.

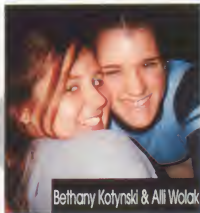

"I have always been interested in journalism, but I wasn't sure if I was going to pursue the interest as more than a hobby," LeBlanc said. "Yearbook is not only fun, but it helped me decide my major for college."

Being a part of SHIELD doesn't just consist of hard work; it means you're a part of a team that gets the job done and has an outrageous time doing it.

SPORTS

Sports are an important aspect of many student's lives here at Highland High School. While some students excel in academics or the arts, others make their name in sports. Making it to the top as a sports star takes hard work, dedication, and a lot of time. In season, teams will practice every day, sometimes even twice a day, until skills are perfected. Athletes must endure inclement weather, competing teammates, and constant criticism. High school sports are a good way to stay fit and learn discipline. As we change into the next lane of our lives, some students will continue on the sports path, while others will learn that sports were just a thing of their past. We must always keep in mind that the activities we participate in today will help pave the routes we take in the future.

• Girls enjoy successful season

The Highland varsity girls' cross country team feels fantastic about their accomplishments this season. The girls placed well in conference, thanks to their wonderful and dedicated teammates.

"Because we had a smaller team, we were really close and it made it a lot easier to work together," said senior Marina Aburto, who was proud to have improved her time throughout the season.

"We've all worked really hard to accomplish what we have. All of the pressure and competition helps us to keep going," said junior standout Jill Odom, who was easily one of the area's dominant runners, placing first at the sectional and regional meets. Unfortunately, Odom was unable to finish at the semistate meet, collapsing from exhaustion with less than 100 yards remaining.

Coach Tom Reynolds has brought the team a long way in a such a short time. With hard work and dedication, all of the girls have made it a season to remember.

• Runners set high goals

Cross country is more than just running. Endurance, speed, and strength are what it's all about. All of these elements were evident as the Highland boys' cross country team pulled together to have a great season.

Facing some big challenges, the boys pulled through to a terrific finish.

"My biggest challenge this year was running number five at New Prairie," sophomore Michael Moynihan said.

In the end, the challenges are what made the season more rewarding.

It is important to set goals when starting the season.

Since the team had a positive attitude, it was easy to keep them motivated.

"Volleyball this year was tough at first," junior Andrea Cloe said. "We had to get used to the new coach and the different players, but I think that as the year went on we began to work together as a team."

With Coach Adam Baez taking over Jerry Mazur's position, the varsity boys' tennis team knew it would be a challenging season. According to sophomore Brandon Kitchell, "(The coach) did a good job getting along with the players and having them play to the best of their ability."

With only two returning seniors, the team did not have as much experience as their competition. However, this did not dishearten them.

"Charlie and Garret were fearless leaders," sophomore Eric Meeder said.

The Trojans ended their seasons with a 10-4 record. The team had a five-game winning streak beginning with a spectacular victory over Lake Central.

Unfortunately, Highland's season came to an end, losing 3-2 to Lake Central in the sectional.

"I think we could have done better, but we had a young team," senior Garret Jacobs said.

• Playing for kicks and giggles

With great players who have incredible team unity, this year's varsity girls' soccer team astounded Highland High School. When you think of the team, immediately the words determined, hard-working, and winners come to mind. They deserve recognition for dedicating their lives entirely to soccer each fall.

According to sophomore Brianne Mahala, "We don't just play soccer... we live it!"

The team spirit shined this year. Dressing up for games and Spirit Week, for example, show the team was excited and had a positive attitude about playing. Their spirit came through in their games as they kicked their way to the top.

Highland can only hope that next year the team will be as good as they were this year. Seniors Marisa Pepelea and Katie Lewis said that they are going to miss all of the fun-filled times from their high school soccer careers.

Junior Elise Mihalik also agreed that it's been a great season. Summing up the season, she said, "We worked hard and accomplished a lot."

• Boys' soccer team steps up their game

The Highland varsity boys' soccer team was all business when it was game time, and that meant that their opponents were, often times, in for a difficult night. The Trojans' 12-5-1 record is evidence of a successful season.

"My best moment would be the goal I scored against Munster," senior Mark Crist said, referring to the team's 2-0 victory against the Mustangs. The Trojans continued their winning ways for much of the season. One of the keys to the team's success was unity.

"We had our ups and downs throughout the season," senior Josh Fleishman said, "but we pulled together and had a lot of fun."

Highland advanced to the sectional finals, but came up short, losing to Crown Point in the championship game.

"It was a huge upset to a long season," junior Ryan Bocken said. "but we'll see what happens next year."

• Team gives fans plenty to cheer about

The Highland varsity football team, one can say, deserved a better fate. The Trojans finished with a below-par 4-6 record and were eliminated in the first-round of sectional play.

The season, though, could have been much different if Highland had received just a few more breaks. For instance, five of the team's six losses were within a touchdown, and Highland was defeated twice by Hobart — both games decided by just two points.

"The team chemistry was good this year, which made practices very spirited," Coach Edwards said.

Led by senior Kris Boyd at quarterback, Brett Bach and Steve Faught at running back, Gabe Rodriguez and Andrew Helmer at receiver, and kicker Gary Simkus, Highland put forth its best effort each game. The defense featured leaders like John Fenchak, Andy Zmchik, Ricky Hanft, and Kevin Frazier.

Next year's group is already looking forward to the season with great anticipation.

• A Splash In Time

Teamwork and perseverance are only two ingredients that make the Highland girls' swimming team successful. The girls spent months together practicing the sport that they love. All the hard work paid off when State rolled around and more than a few girls competed and scored big.

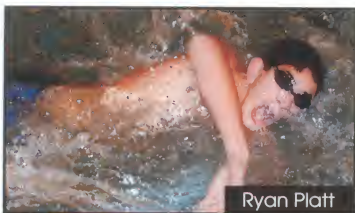

Cindy Cieslak said success did not come easily. "The swim team had early morning practices four days out of the week. We had practice after school everyday. The season required a lot of hard work," she said, "but I think the team stepped it up and clicked well together to have a fun and successful season."

Although the hard work was challenging, the team put up a fight and ended the season with a record of 12-3.

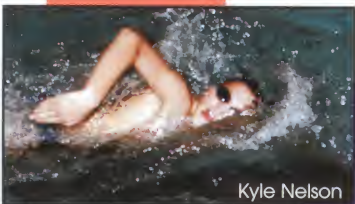

The girls are examples of what comes of hard work. Let's remember this when life seems challenging--have perseverance, because a little goes a long way, as the team has shown us. Highland is looking forward to another fine team again next year.

• Dedication drives team to success

This is not a sport for the weak-minded or bodied. It involves dedication, perseverance, endurance, and drive. Keeping up with a swimmer is exhausting. Between the morning and after-school practices and two-a-day's during winter break, there isn't much time for anything else.

The boys started off the season strong with a win against Griffith and a fourth place finish in the Munster Relays.

"This season was my last year and it was my best year ever," said senior Nick Castillo, who was named the team's MVP. "I plan on swimming in college at IUPUI."

In addition to Castillo, several other teammates also had terrific seasons, including Junior diver Rob Fenoglio.

"This year was a lot better for me because I learned more difficult dives and my scores really went up," Fenoglio said.

Our boys made us proud this year, and with a talented group of underclassmen returning, Highland will be a difficult team to contend with next season.

• Squad spreads cheer at games

Rah, Rah, fight, fight, and go team go! Highland High School cheerleaders do their best to support our basketball and football teams.

"Our squad has lots of spirit! We are always trying to get the crowd going even if our team is losing," junior Heather Lane said.

In order to reach goals during the season, it takes hard work and determination. This could not be accomplished without team bonding.

"The best thing about cheerleading is being able to support our school and have fun with our teammates while we do it," sophomore Delana McCarroll said. "When you have a squad that gets along and trusts each other, you can go far."

Highland cheerleaders tear down the stereotype that cheerleaders are just flirts in skirts. The sport means a lot to the girls.

"I have learned from cheerleading that teamwork is essential for success," McCarroll said. "If we all don't try our hardest and work together, we would not have the squad we have today. Keeping a squad together and friendly for ten months is hard, but we did it."

• Danz Team performs 'athletic' show

Never mistake the Danz Team for cheerleaders or believe dancing is not a sport.

The girls of the Danz Team work just as hard, if not harder, than many other sport teams. It requires many long hours of practice before the girls have their complicated dance routines perfected.

They perform in competitions, represent Highland High School, and look good while doing it. They are, of course, extremely popular to watch perform at halftime. The girls entertain the crowd during halftime of the varsity boys' and girls' basketball games.

Being on the Danz team takes discipline, dedication, and great physical ability, just like any other athletic team.

The 2003-2004 Highland Danz Team captains were Amy Niekula and Jen DeWier.

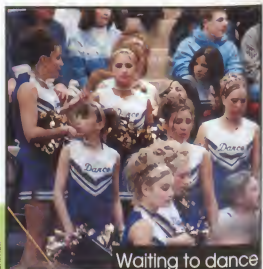

So, if dancing is your thing, or even if it's not, be sure to watch these girls perform.

'New Look' Trojans win conference championship

The Highland varsity girls' basketball team underwent a major transformation from the past season. Gone, of course, were many of the key players who had helped to lead the team to prosperity. Also absent was Coach Huppenthal, who resigned at the end of the season after guiding the team to consecutive semistate appearances. Despite the changes, including the addition of veteran coach Mr. Urban, who had enjoyed great success at the helm of the boys' basketball team for many years, the Lady Trojans were still a team that was very difficult to beat. During one stretch in the season, Highland won nine straight games and maintained its status among the area's elite teams. The season also marked Coach Urban's first year back since he last coached the boys' team during the 1998-99 season. And, with Urban's coaching and the gutsy, determined play of his girls, Highland posted a 17-6 record and, once again, captured the Lake Athletic Conference title. Highland was led by the play of Cassi Siska, Jody Shimanek, Georgieann Michels, and Katie Lewis.

Highland finishes with 15-7 record

After last year's sectional championship, the Highland varsity boys' basketball team knew it would be difficult to match that accomplishment this season, especially since it was moving from Class 3A to Class 4A.

Still, the Trojans were considered one of the area's top teams, compiling a 15-7 record. Highland got out of the gate quickly, winning its first six games, including an impressive season-opening win over Merrillville.

This year's senior players -- Brett Bach, Kris Boyd, Dan Plonczynski, Gary Simkus, and Kevin Thomas -- led the way because of their leadership and dedication.

Sophomores Derek Moser and Andrew Helmer were also instrumental in the team's success.

"The game just came easily to us this year," Moser said. "We didn't have to force anything. I think it was because everyone made it a lot easier by encouraging each other."

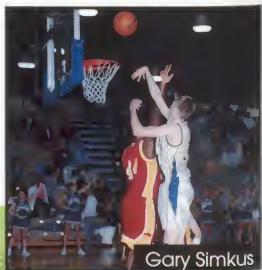

Highland made an early exit in tournament play, but there is plenty of hope for next season.

The Highland wrestling team had an amazing year led by team senior captains Fernando Martinez and Corey Anderson, and junior captains Matt Dunlap and Nick Yuknis.

The boys performed well throughout the year even though they were a young team. The Trojans started off the season with a victory at the first-ever Region Rumble at Highland High School. Featuring state-qualifier Yuknis and the 2003 103-pound State Champion Martinez, the Trojans were on a mission to repeat history. Both Martinez and Yuknis earned Conference champ titles; and at the sectional, Yuknis and Paul Sink captured sectional championships. The Trojans continued to triumph, and as a team, qualified for regionals. The following week, freshman Tony Trichek, Yuknis, Sink, and Martinez all qualified for semistate. The Trojan's 112-pound Martinez went on to place third at state, ending his tremendous high school career with a record of 122-17.

"Nando is one of the finest young men I've ever been associated with. It's been a pleasure to coach him; his leadership and dedication will be sorely missed," Coach Mike Poynter said.

"We improved a lot throughout the year," Yuknis said. "We need to work hard in the offseason to get farther in the state tournament next year."

• Girls have an awesome season

The Highland varsity softball team did themselves proud this season.

The sport requires lots of dedication, just like any other sport, and these girls know what that is all about, especially this year. The girls had something to prove because of their unexpected loss last year in the first round of the sectional to Hammond High, and they did very well. Highland posted a 16-6-1 record.

Under the coaching of Jen Banas, the Lady Trojans have had four outstanding seasons. Highland has won conference championships, with its most difficult competition coming from Munster.

"Of my four years of playing high school softball, my senior year was the best!" Marisa Papelea said. "I will always remember our interpretive dancing on the bus on the way home from our games."

These girls are all business, but they know how to have as well. They will surely have another exceptional season next year.

•Trojans enjoy success despite its inexperience

The Highland varsity baseball team may not have had one of their better seasons record-wise, but they did have character. The combination of young sophomores, inexperienced juniors, and competitive seniors took the Trojans on a roller-coaster ride of a season.

Led by senior captains Eric Chappell and Kris Boyd, the team started the season off with a 7-2 record which included important conference wins over Andean and Kankakee Valley. But as the season progressed, it seemed several critical mistakes each game took the team on a bit of a losing streak and dangerously close to a .500 record — unheard of in the team's highly successful past. But as the season continued, Highland learned from its mistakes and improved, and, no doubt, will return as a dominating team next year.

• Tennis team wins sectional title

The Highland varsity girls' tennis team worked extremely hard this season, compiling a record of 16-5. Their determination and hard work paid off by winning the sectional championship.

Each player contributed in a major way by encouraging and giving it their all. The teams' bond and close knit friendships helped make this year an even greater one.

"At the beginning of the year we had two goals," Coach Adam Baez said, "to have a winning season and to win sectionals. After accomplishing both of those I feel we were an extremely successful team."

The girls were proud of the season they had and hope to continue improving for next year.

• Golfers have fine season

There is no question that golf is one of the most difficult sports to master. It requires a great deal of concentration and precision just to play golf, let alone to become good. All of the members of the golf team have worked hard to master the skills necessary to win, and this year it clearly showed.

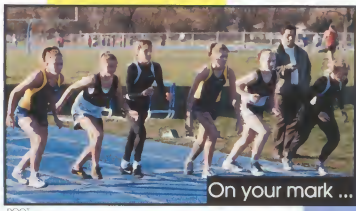

"We had a lot of depth this year, and we played really well," senior Charlie Stapke said.

After an amazing season this year, it is sad to see the senior players leave. However, the younger players played extremely well this year, and there is no doubt that they will carry the Trojan Spirit through the next few years.

• Girls' track team has successful season

Going for the big "W," the girls' track team had a fine season. They started off extremely well and finished even stronger. Led by Jill Odom, Jen Lachowicz, and Brianne Mahala, Highland had some impressive performances and good showings at major invitational.

"My favorite part about track was after the meet, playing/slip-and-slide at Warren in really cold weather, and cheering for the two-milers," Gina Rayson said.

The Trojans placed third in the Lake Athletic Conference and third in sectionals with the guidance of their coaches, Mr. Reynolds, Mrs. Odom, and Mrs. Govert.

Advancing to the state meet in the 800-meter run was Odom, who was also named the team's Most Valuable Performer.

• Racing to the finish

The training and work that went into preparing for the season paid off this year. Records were broken, goals were accomplished, and history was made. The boys can always look back at the year with pride and satisfaction.

"We've all been training really hard all year, and it's paying off," junior Matt Dunlap said.

Ryan Hall, Matt Gauthier, Jason Douthett, and Matt Dunlap broke the 4 x 8 conference record this year. Douthett also surpassed the 800 record.

"Track is a great sport. It takes individual strength as well as group performance to succeed. Our team works really hard, and it shows," junior Tim Lackhouse said. The boys are looking forward to next year, when they can make new memories, break new records, and accomplish more goals.

Although some people may not believe it, you learn something new every day in high school. The knowledge you receive may not always be about math equations or English literature, but about life and the people around you. High school is a great opportunity to meet people and make new friends. It is also a good place to learn how to deal with people who are not the easiest to get along with. Highland High has a wide variety of personalities that collectively form the diverse character of our school. People are the core of any establishment, so learning how to deal with others will help you travel far on the road of life.

Administration

School Town of Highland

'New' administrative team puts focus on student improvement

Very little remained the same as the School Town of Highland's staff of administrative personnel underwent sweeping changes.

Dr. Renner Ventling returned to Highland after a three-year absence to take on the challenges of superintendent. Mr. Ronald Blake also returned to Highland to become the new director of curriculum and instruction. Also new to Highland were Mr. James Conway, high school principal, and Mr. Dan Candiano, athletic coordinator.

And, as often is the case, with change there comes progress and new initiatives which focus on student improvement. A weekly program called Sustained Silent Reading was initiated at the high school. Students were required to read for 20 minutes during class time in order to help promote reading in all classes.

Class of

The road ahead is running out. After numerous years on this path, high school is coming to an end for the Class of 2004. All of the past memories and experiences can be seen in the rear-view mirror. Throughout time, they may become less clear, but they will always be there. Old friends, the best jokes, and the times we never thought we would get through will all be behind us, shaping who we are and where we are going.

The blinker is on, and we are stealing glances at the open lane to our left. The end is fast approaching. School days are flying by as summer draws near. For some, the end couldn't come soon enough, while others are just noticing how close it is. Neither group can speed up nor put the brakes on the unavoidable. Graduation will come in due time.

A slight turn of the wheel, and we are edging into the next lane. The new lane is what we make of it. The time has come to decide what we plan to do with the rest of our lives. This road can take us anywhere we want to go. Wherever we choose to go, our memories and experiences will always be behind us, and with one quick glance we will always remember them.

In Loving Memory of Ashley C. Ritz

October 29, 1985 - August 8, 2003

You are not forgotten Ashley,
Nor will you ever be.
As long as life and memory last,
We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by, we'll miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

One of my favorite memories as going to Seaway and getting free food all the time."
Rachel Simalowski

"I remember watching 'Too
Wong Foo' and drinking
slurpies." -Stefanie Lopez

One of my favorite memories with Ashley is dancing like Britney Spears at 6:00 in the morning at my house."
Elise Martinelli

"I remember melting G.I. Joes in Ashley's basement." -Lisa Stiglitz

I remember when we were in North Carolina and Ashley was singing into the fan to make me feel better." -Colleen Benson

I Will Remember You...

Graduation 2004

June 6, 2004 is a day that will live in infamy, at least for the select few who were lucky enough to be a part of the Class of 2004. This is the long-awaited, highly anticipated day of graduation. For some it is a time of sadness and reflection of the past. For others, it is a moment of joy and relief. For all graduates, however, it is the last time the entire Class of 2004 will be together. From now on, memories will be the only tie to the world of high school. There is a fork in the road, and the graduates must choose what path to take. Whether moving on to college, working, or taking time off to decide which direction to travel, all graduates must move on from high school and change lanes into the future. We must remember the past, but embrace what is to come.

Field Trip
the way!

Changing Lanes

Volume 45 SHIELD "Changing Lanes" was designed by Editors Ellie Hansotte and Mindy Kuiper. The division sections (Student Life, Clubs/Academics, Sports, and People) were also designed by Hansotte and Kuiper. Additionally, Hansotte and Kuiper were responsible for designing the Underclass and the Senior sections.

The Senior layouts were compiled by Scott Thompson and Alison Kostelich; Year in Review, by Jennifer Morales and Gina Rayson; Cover, Graduation, and Editors Acknowledgements, by Hansotte and Kuiper.

This was the school's first-ever full color yearbook, utilizing five dominant blended colors throughout the book for consistency.

The dominant font highlighting the theme "Changing Lanes" was Fisherman. Student Life headlines are in TinkerToy 56 point; Sports headlines are Jiffy 30 point; People headlines are Oatmeal 72 point for the Underclass section; Clubs and Academics are Garage Shock 80 point and the subhead is Cocktails 36 point. All copy is done in Aquiline Tiepolo Book 12 point, captions are in Quetzalcoat! 12 point, and cutlines are in Wass 14 point.

All spread templates were designed using Pagemaker 4.2, and then converted to Pagemaker 6.5 for dist submission to the plant.

Volume 45 was printed by Herff Jones, 6015 Travis Lane, P.O. Box 10, Shawnee Mission, Ks. 66201. Our Year book representative is Mrs. Lisa Keene.

All Class pictures were taken by Root Photographers, 1131 West Sheridan Road, Chicago, Ill., 60660.

A Note From the Editors

It is been a long year, but it is finally over. All of our hard work that went into making this book is complete, and we are so proud of the effort given by everyone on our staff. You made the yearbook the BEST Highland has ever seen and we were lucky to have such a great staff.

The Adviser...

Mr. Foss - Ellie and Mindy want to thank you for everything you have put up with for the past three years. We know it has not been easy, but it has been worthwhile. We have learned a lot and we want to express our gratitude for the opportunity to work with you.

The Staff...

Renee Bogusz and Angela Hurtt You are two of the quietest people we have ever met! You made a good team and were a vital part of the yearbook staff. Your hard work motivated us to meet our goal.

Sam Bogusz - Even though you had a less than perfect attendance record, the work you completed was appreciated. You are a very sweet girl; thanks for making us smile.

Jade Buckley Unfortunately you were only able to spend one semester in yearbook, but you really made a difference in the class. You are a very dedicated student and really went the extra mile with your work.

don LeBlanc, Bethany Kotynski, Beth Shimok, Ruth Shimok Each one of you worked tremendously hard to get the job done, and we thank you a million times over. You always made us smile and brought character to the class.

Kimmy Lindsey and Liz Schmitt We don't know what we would have done without you! You guys are such hard workers and we are so thankful to have had you on staff. Thank you so much for doing the millions of layouts we assigned you. Good luck as editors...we know you will do great!

Mats Lambert We will always remember your touching yearbook application letter. We are glad you decided to join the class. Your zany behavior kept things interesting. Thanks for all your hard work.

Meghan Palm You were only able to spend one semester in yearbook, but we are glad you were a part of the staff. Good luck with your journalism career path! We know you will be amazing.

Lenny Friend, Malcolm Munroe, Phil Miller Oh, boys! What else can we say? You made the classroom very lively, to say the least, with your darkroom adventures and laser pointing missions. We would like to thank Phil and Malcolm for producing the best layout ever. Lenny, you also did excellent work...guess who your next layout partner is???

Megan Gullickson We want to thank you for being such a great friend to us through the years (don't we sound like a couple?). You were also a very important part of the staff. Thanks for keeping Ashley company during the long and lonely sessions in the darkroom.

Allison Kornelich You helped us survive the class. You made us laugh when things got a little tense. Thank you for working so hard and for putting up with so much!

Scott Thompson and Alli Walak We are so thankful to have had you both on staff. You helped us in so many ways. It was nice to bounce ideas off of Alli. Scott, you were a life saver on the senior section! Your unique style and amazing writing skills were put to good use. P.S. Your golf layout was a close second to Phil and Malcolm's.

Tevet Kuiper Well, we would have a lot more to write about you if you had stayed in the class both semesters, but we will do the best we can. You have a very creative style which made the yearbook more unique and diverse. Maybe one day your pop-up yearbook dreams will come true! Thanks for being an awesome sister, friend, and staff member. We love you!

Jenny Morales You are spectacular! We would like to express our gratitude to you for doing all those layouts we gave you. We are glad you had such a good attitude all year because your bright, sunshiny face inspired us daily. You are a dedicated worker, and even more important, an amazing friend. Good luck as an editor next year!

The Photo Editors...

Bread Hopleaze Well, it has been an interesting year. We are glad we got to "see" so much more of you this year. You are a crazy, crazy boy and we are so happy that you were a part of the staff! Thanks for being a great editor!

Ashley Mayer You were an amazing editor. We knew that we could always count on you for anything. Thanks for taking pictures on a moment's notice and never complaining. You are fabulous and a great darkroom hide-and-go-seek player.

The Ad Editors...

Nicholas Milosavich, Madalyn Murovic, and Elena Rayson Well girls, now that the baton is in your hands, we hope that you will succeed in your yearbook endeavors. Thanks for all of your great work this year. Good luck!

The Editors...

Ellie Hanzotte Oh Ellie! These past years have been the best of my life! You are such an amazing friend and I don't know what I would do without you. It was surprisingly fun being an editor with you. Who would've thought? Anyway, good luck in the future. I know you will accomplish anything you put your mind to. I love you!

Mindy Kuiper - We are such best friends. I am glad I got to work next to you these past few years. Even though you never admitted it, you do have a creative side and it is amazing. Sorry I am a little overbearing at times, but you always dealt with me patiently. I love you and will miss you next year.

It's been a long year, but it's finally over. The end of the school year signifies a lazy summer for some, a workaholic's schedule for the highly motivated, or a balance between these two extremes for others. Summer is a good time to make lasting memories, sleep in until noon, and even earn a buck or two.

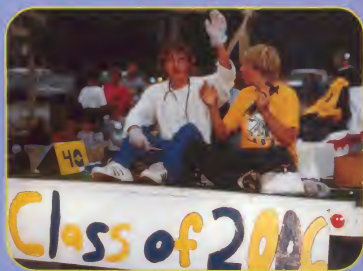

The end of the year also signifies a change in all of us. We are all a little older and a bit wiser than we were at the beginning of the year, and we have all impacted the school and community in some way. The road ahead has many turns, but if you take each one with the right amount of patience and care, the ride should be relatively smooth.

Turn signal on...check Blind spot cleared...check

You are now ready to change into the next lane. High school is over for some of us, but for others, the end of the year just marks the beginning of the next chapter. Whatever path you may find yourself on, remember that traffic jams are inevitable, but they don't last forever, so keep on truckin'!
Good luck and drive safely.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million, from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1999. The public sector has become an important employer of people with mental health problems.

There is a growing awareness of the need to improve the mental health of people in the public sector. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for mental health care, which includes a commitment to improve the mental health of people in the public sector. The strategy states that 'the mental health of people in the public sector is a priority for the Department of Health' and that 'the Department will work to ensure that people in the public sector have access to the same high quality mental health services as the rest of the population'.

The Department of Health (1999) has also published a strategy for mental health care, which includes a commitment to improve the mental health of people in the public sector. the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1.1 million (Office of National Statistics 1999). The number of people aged 65 and over is projected to increase to 6.5 million by 2011, and the number of people aged 75 and over to 3.5 million (Office of National Statistics 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop services to meet the needs of older people, and a number of initiatives have been developed to address this need. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the lives of older people. The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

The strategy is based on the following assumptions: (1) that older people are a diverse group with different needs and interests; (2) that older people should be able to live independently and actively; (3) that older people should have access to the services and support they need; and (4) that older people should be treated with respect and dignity. The strategy sets out a number of key objectives, including: to improve the lives of older people; to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

The strategy also sets out a number of key actions, including: to improve the lives of older people; to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity. The strategy is a key document for the development of services for older people, and it provides a framework for the development of services that meet the needs of older people.
